

Martin Bentley

I am sure that most of you will at least know my face – you should do; I have been a supporter of Enfield Town since Game One, and a fan of our predecessors since 1973. I have recently retired from a career in Compliance Audit, and now feel that it is time to put something back into this excellent football club.

I believe that the club must not stagnate, and needs to be driven forward in the coming years, and a sound and improved financial base is key to achieving this.

I can offer a sound business sense from my working life, and 50 years of acquired knowledge of non-league football, although those of you that know me best might disagree. As the club seeks to grow and develop in the coming years, I hope to bring to the table ideas to develop the club commercially and if possible take ownership and drive these ideas forward.

And finally, there's a free KitKat for anyone who votes for me (although I might be lying about that last bit!)
